HISTORICAL NOTE

Holt County, the fourth largest county in Nebraska, is 48 miles wide and fifty miles long. It contains 2,4312 square miles of land. A Governor's proclamation June 29, 1876 organized the county, and the first meeting was held at Twin Lasser, July 13, 1876.

The first election of officers took place December 27, 1876, and Paddock was declared the county seat the following January. The county records were kept at the home of J. B. Berry, the first county treasurer. The early records of the territory which became Holt county were kept in Antelope and Knox county before the county was organized.

A petition to relocate the county seat was submitted to the Board of Commissioners, April 1, 1879, and called for a special election to be held May 12, 1879. O'Neill City received the majority of votes and was declared the new county seat. The records of the county were officially moved August 1, 1879. Various buildings were leased for county offices. Town lots were sold in 1881 to erect a jail and the jail building was purchased from the village of O'Neill October 22, 1885. O'Neill City was incorporated as the village of O'Neill October 7, 1882. A special election was held in February of 1884 to vote on bonds to erect a courthouse. P. J. Panly and Brothers of St. Louis, Missouri were chosen as the architects. However, the state auditor returned the bonds refusing to register them on the basis that the laws of 1879 had no enacting clause and were unconstitutional. The bonds were set aside until they were canceled in September of 1885. Bonds were finally issued after a special election on June 19, 1885. G. E. Bastedo, a county resident, was paid for plans he had rendered for the new courthouse located on Block 10, Lots 5-10 in O'Neill. The courthouse was finished and ready for occupancy in December of 1885.

A major scandal occurred in the office of County Treasurer when Barrett Scott, treasurer, absconded August 4, 1893 owing the county treasury $10,000. He fled to Mexico and the county paid $1600.00 to try to get him back to Holt County. A lawsuit to recover the money was begun in August of 1893 and a reward of $3,000 was offered for the return of Scott. The Board of Commissioners voted Scott guilty in March of 1894 and removed him from office. Scott was later murdered, his family assaulted, and his horses killed by a group of masked men December 31, 1894. The county recovered only part of the money by acquisition of Scott's property and other assets.

Holt county originally consisted of three precincts, Ford, Center, and Paddock. By 1900, the county had been divided into twenty-six precincts, or townships. Voting precincts of Long Pine and Creighton were created in the unorganized territory west of the county in 1879. In 1882, these two precincts, including the town of Long Pine, were annexed by Brown County. The unorganized territory north of Holt County was annexed in 1883. Attempts were made many times to divide the county and form new counties without success. The first attempt was in 1883 by petitions to form new counties called Perry and Elkhorn; 1888 - Union, Niobrara and Elkhorn; 1889 - Victor & Elkhorn; 1893 - Cook, Fountain and Elkhorn; 1895 - Holcomb, Adair, Fountain, & Elkhorn. Today (1995), Holt county covers an area of 2,406 square miles and has a population of 12,599.

The county was organized under commissioner form of government but later, in Nov. 1887, was reorganized into townships by which it is still governed. The County was named in honor of Joseph Holt, secretary of war under President James Buchanan.
